Cyprus tax facts and figures

Corporate tax

Since its accession to the European Union in 2004, Cyprus tax legislation conforms with the EU requirements and the OECD initiative against harmful tax practices.

A company is considered Cyprus tax resident if its management and control is exercised from Cyprus. The significant tax advantages offered by Cyprus to international companies with a Cyprus tax-residence include:

- double tax treaties with over 70 countries
- favourable tax regime, including corporation tax of 15%, one of the lowest rates in the EU
- flat Crypto tax rate 8%
- exemption from tax on profits on disposal of shares, bonds and other securities (except in the case where the company issuing the shares owns immovable property directly or indirectly situated in Cyprus)
- exemption from tax in most cases on dividends received

- exemption from withholding tax in most cases on dividends and on interest payable to non-Cyprus tax residents
- exemption from capital gains tax on gains arising from the disposal of immovable property situated abroad
- tax losses carried forward for 7 years
- exemption from tax on profits from operations of permanent establishments situated abroad

Personal Tax

Individuals who are Cyprus tax residents are subject to tax on their worldwide income, whether remitted to Cyprus or not.

A tax resident is someone who lives in Cyprus for a period exceeding in aggregate 183 days in a calendar year.

Under certain conditions, Cyprus also grants tax resident status with an aggregated stay of >60 days per year. In order to be eligible for this, an individual needs to conform to the following for the calendar year in question:

does not reside in any other single state for a period exceeding 183 days | resides in Cyprus for at least 60 days | has other defined Cyprus ties

The standard income tax rates are:

Taxable Income €	Rate €	Tax €	Cumulative taxable income €	Cumulative tax €
First 22.000	-	-	22.000	-
Next 10.000	20	2.000	32.000	2.000
Next 10.000	25	2.500	42.000	4.500
Next 30.000	30	9.000	72.000	13.500
Over 72.000	35

Individuals who are non-Cyprus tax residents are subject to tax on their Cyprus-source income.

Also, new tax residents who take up employment in Cyprus, subject to conditions, may be entitled to generous tax reliefs of up to 50% .

Cyprus does not impose withholding taxes on interest or dividends payable to non-residents.

It is worth noting that investments made in SMEs which operate in Cyprus and qualify as innovative businesses could be exempt from tax subject to conditions. The maximum exemption cannot exceed the amount of €150.000 per year.

Benefits of being Cyprus tax resident

- No capital gains tax imposed unless the profits are derived from the sale of immovable property located in Cyprus
- No wealth or inheritance taxes
- Various personal expenses are allowed as a deduction for tax purposes including life insurance premiums, social insurance contributions, approved provident fund contributions, approved medical scheme contributions, professional subscriptions and approved charitable donations
- Opportunity to be granted non-domiciled status, allowing exemption of dividends and interest income from Special Defence Contribution

Four key tax incentives for foreign investors

Intellectual Property (IP) tax regime

The definition of IP is set out in the relevant legislation and includes intangible assets such as patents, copyrighted software programs etc.

On the basis of the current IP regime (nexus approach), 80% of the worldwide income derived from the IP (net of any direct expenses) is exempt from tax and 80% of the profit generated from the sale of the IP (net of any direct expenses) is also exempt from tax. Amortisation is also granted over the lifetime of the IP which cannot exceed 20 years.

Notional interest deduction regime

Notional interest on capital injections can be treated as a tax-deductible expense provided it represents an expense incurred for financing assets used to generate taxable income.

The objective is to harmonise from a tax perspective, the treatment of equity finance with the treatment of finance by debt.

Non-domiciled individuals

Cyprus tax residents can apply for Non-Domicile status, whereby they are granted a 17-year exemption from Special Defence Contribution (SDC), which is otherwise payable on dividends (@ 5%), interest (@ 17% or 3% on specific cases).
